RUSSIA'S BATTLE TO PREVENT PUBLIC AIRING OF THE BERLIN DISPUTE THREATENS THE UNITED NATIONS WITH THE GREATEST CRISIS IN ITS VERY BRIEF HISTORY

Security Council Will Begin Discussion at Three P. M. Today (Paris Time) on West's Claim That Soviet Blockade of Berlin Endangers Peace of the World

By Pierre J. Huss

(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, Oct. 5 — Russia's battle to prevent public airing of the Berlin dispute threatened the United Nations today with the greatest crisis in its brief history.

The battle will be officially joined at 3 p. m. (Paris time) today when the Security Council begins discussion on the West's claim that the Soviet blockade of Berlin endangers peace.

But the Soviets fired the opening gun on the eve of the session with a demand for a new Big Four Council of Foreign Ministers meeting to consider both the Berlin problem and the larger one of all Germany.

In notes to the three Western powers, Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov asserted that the United Nations has no jurisdiction over the dispute. He charged that the three Western powers are using the U. N. to put "pressure" on the Soviets to further Western "aggressive" aims.

That Molotov's demand for a new meeting of the Council of Foreign Ministers will be rejected by the West was a foregone conclusion. His note reiterated Soviet determination not to retreat from the two demands which broke up earlier negotiations—Soviet insistence on control of air traffic to Berlin, which would imperil the airlift, and an absolute control over issuance of Soviet zone currency.

The Western powers, with U. S. Delegate Philip C. Jessup in the chair, are set to back up their declaration that the Soviet policies are a threat to peace.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky, ready to hurl his customary bitter invective to prevent the council from placing the Berlin dispute on its agenda.

Nevertheless, the council is viewed as virtually certain to back up the West with a 9 to 2 vote.

Early speculation was that Vishinsky, supported by the Ukraine, will attempt to prolong the debate on the agenda as long as possible but would remain in the council even should he be defeated on the issue.

However, the bitter tone of the latest Molotov communication, which flatly asserted that the dispute is no business of the 58-nation organization, led to new reports that Vishinsky might walk out of council.

ALMANAC'S EDITOR

The death in New York of E. Eastman Ervine, for 11 years editor of the "World Almanac," marks another chapter in the history of this venerable and revered publication.

It would be interesting to know how many times, in the six-odd decades the Almanac has been published, the phrase "Look it up in the Almanac" has echoed through the city rooms of the American press. To a working newspaperman no other reference—with the possible exception of the local city directory—is quite so necessary to his trade as is this thick, squat, (and usually dog-eared) volume.

Information gleaned from its authoritative pages has won bets, settled fights and in general kept the working newsmen out of trouble by supplying the right dates, facts and figures on almost every conceivable subject.

Mr. Ervine became editor of the Almanac in 1937 after years as a newsman. The 11 years he served in his post were among the most momentous in world history, placing on him a great responsibility as an editor. That he succeeded in separating useful fact from useless fancy can be confirmed by a glance at the 1948 edition.

This is probably the only epitaph he would want.

WINTERFYLLETH

There is none to say ill of October, wherein all the months smile and bow. October is a blend of the gentle and balmy wind that is March at its best and the first harbinger of spring; the velvet greenery of meadow that is the lush grass of summer just before ripening; the gold and scarlet that is the royal color pageant of autumn; then the hoar-frost that is the very mantle of winter itself.

October is the eighth month of the old Roman year, which began in March. In the Julian calendar, while retaining its old name, it became the tenth month, and had 31 days assigned to it.

By the Slavs, October is called the "yellow month," from the fading of the leaf. To the Anglo-Saxons it was known as Winterfylleth, because at this full moon "fylleth" winter was supposed to begin.

By whatever name, October is the realization of nature's promise of seedtime and harvest, a time of rich and heady beauty. It is a hearty and hale month.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

(By Courier Staff Member)

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol Oct. 6, 1898. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published in Bristol, was discontinued following its merger with the Courier.

The Cross Keys Hotel, near Doylestown, owned by Charles Sayler of Holmesburg, has been sold to J. C. Magill, of Bristol, who will take possession some day next week . . .

A Wier Gilkeson is improving his home, Pine Grove, by the erection of a large green house near his residence, and the tearing down of two small buildings opposite . . .

Richard Booz, son of the constable, while gunning along the pond last week, shot a bald-headed eagle that measured five feet six inches from tip to tip of the wings . . .

William H. J. Wilson, who left Bristol the 18th of last August for Montauk as a nurse of the Red Cross Society, returned home last Tuesday. Upon arrival at Montauk he was immediately assigned in the detention hospital, where he has been ever since in quarantine. In this time Mr. Wilson has nursed 400 cases, mostly typhoid, but six were the dreaded yellow fever. Out of this total only 12 were lost . . . Mr. Wilson is much interested in the work and expects shortly to go to Porto Rico where several of the surgeons who were at Montauk now are, and from two of whom, Dr. William C. LeCompte and Dr. John J. Gilhuly, Mr. Wilson has most excellent recommendations of his qualifications as a nurse.

Political Homework

The first of these articles is "How We Won the War and Lost the Peace," by William C. Bullitt, who was the late President Roosevelt's Ambassador to Russia. This appeared in two parts in Life Magazine, issues of August 30 and September 6.

Mr. Bullitt gives an inside, absolutely authentic, and quite indisputable account of the New Deal foreign policy which turned victory in the war into the present rat-race of preparation for a still further, and more devastating, World War with the United States on one side and Russia on the other.

The mistakes made were those of President Roosevelt, in the main; but when Mr. Truman became President, he put his blessing on these mistakes, and officially made them his by his commitments at San Francisco and Potsdam.

No open-minded person can read the Bullitt account and have any doubts of where the blame lies for the last three years disasters in the field of peace. As a matter of fact, there is only one serious fault to find with Mr. Bullitt in the matter—for the welfare of his country, he waited several years too long to lay his information before the American people. He should have spoken sooner.

The other piece of "home-work" for conscientious voters is the able and studious reply by Senator Taft to President Truman's recent attacks upon Congress. This appeared in the Saturday Evening Post, issue of September 25, under the title: "The Case Against President Truman."

The title sounds more political than the article actually is. Senator Taft simply does what he is eminently the most qualified man in the United States to do (as Republican leader in the Upper House of Congress): answers in detail all the many innuendoes and accusations which the President has made about the 80th Session.

Senator Taft isn't a candidate for anything, any more than Mr. Bullitt is, in the present election. Neither of the writers enter into any special pleading on behalf of any nominee.

What Senator Taft and Mr. Bullitt present are facts—provable facts, and their inevitable conclusions.

And that is what voters really want and really need, in deciding which way to cast their ballots. They want facts—they want the truth. Given the facts, they can add them up as well as anyone else.

Today's Quiet Moment

By the Rev. H. Henry Heavener
Pastor
Cornwells Methodist Church

O God, we bring to thee those who walk in loneliness and are weighted with care. Give them grace to endure, strength to carry on. Inspire them with thy very presence. May they know that thy love is like the sun, sending forth its energy on the darkest day, and that when the clouds roll away thy goodness will be revealed in splendor. Comfort their hearts, satisfy them with thy mercy until day dawns and shadows flee, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

TIPS' ABOUT LUNCHES FOR SCHOOL PUPILS OF AID TO MOTHERS

By Flora-May Sagui
Home Economics Representative

Whether a child carries his lunch or gets it at school, it is important to mothers to see that all meals of the day are well balanced. Children who are well fed can study better, are more alert, and will receive better marks.

The lunch should be a full meal in itself, not a snack, she explains. It should contain one-third to one-fourth of the child's food needs for the day.

Sandwiches are usually the main part of a packed lunch. Include two or more, depending on the age and the appetite of the child. Use whole wheat bread as often as possible. Hearty sandwich fillings may be made from meat, fish, peanut butter, cheese and eggs. Dried fruit fillings used occasionally add variety and help satisfy the sweet tooth.

Steaming soups and other hot dishes are always welcome additions to a packed lunch. For children who do not have packed lunches supplemented with hot foods at school, a thermos bottle should be standard lunch-box equipment.

Include raw vegetables such as carrot strips, celery, cabbage wedges, or tomatoes, in the lunch box. Fresh or canned fruits are appetizing and nutritious. Put canned foods in small jars with tight lids. A few cookies, unfrosted cakes, custard, or simple puddings will carry well.

Every child should receive milk at his noon meal—either as a beverage or in soup. Milk will stay cold in a thermos bottle.

GOODWILL FAILS TO WIN DESPITE GOOD COMEBACK

CLAYTON, N. J., Oct. 4.—A fine comeback in the second half by the Goodwill Hose team was of no avail Saturday night as the hosemen bowed to the Clayton A. C. eleven, 18-6, for its first loss of the season.

The strong Clayton team decisively outplayed the firemen in the first half and scored two touchdowns, one in the first few minutes of the game. However, in the second half, the spirited Goodwill team battled their opponents to even terms.

Clayton outscored the Bristol boys in first downs, 9 to 3, but six of the downs were made in the first half. The small Goodwill line holding the jerseys to three first downs in the second half.

Topping the second half playing was a sensational run by Elmer Elmer in the final period. The run, the most thrilling of the game came after Bernie Stiles had thrown a 20-yard pass to Elmer. Elmer without interference, caught the ball and shook off a couple of tacklers, then reversed his field and out-ran the last two players to score the touchdown.

Featuring for the winning team was the line playing of "Al" Loubola, formerly of the Wilmington Clippers and who had a try-out with the Philadelphia Eagles this season. Loubola continually broke up the Goodwill plays and was harder to move than a stone wall. Loubola practically took care of the right side of the line by himself and any plays ran in his direction were easily broken up.

Clayton's offensive was sparked by "Johnny" Cappolini and "Bill" Alexander, with Blank leading a hand now and then.

"Buster" Monachello did the best defensive playing for the hosemen, although the Jerseyites had one of the best lines to face the Goodwill team this season. The Bristol kickers had difficulties with their boots, lacking the distance they had in other games.

On the other hand, Blank, who did the kicking for Clayton, had Goodwill back to their goal line with his accurate kicking on three occasions. Blank's "coffin-corner" punting put the Bristolians in a hole, the boots rolling out within the five-yard line and once within took possession of the pigskin after first down on the 15. A lateral one yard of the final goal line a Goodwill fumble on the 31-yard stripe. Clayton got the first "break" early in the tilt. Immediately following the kickoff, which Cappolini ran to the 47, Franfrelli threw a pass towards Bell. "Bobby" Trapp, Goodwill back, attempted to ground the ball but in batting the ball, it went over his finger-tips right into the hands of Bell on the 22-yard line. A pass on three plays later, Franfrelli to Bell, scored the touchdown.

The second score made by the Jersey boys came shortly after the start of the next period. Clayton Alexander to Cappolini, put the ball on the 3-yard line and after Redman gained two, Cappolini crashed over center for the score.

In the third quarter, "Tommy" Holden got loose after breaking through the left side of Clayton's line and before being spilled, the Goodwill quarterback stepped off 25 yards to bring the ball to mid-field but the attack died down after that.

Next Saturday night, Goodwill Hose will play the Langhorne Aces on the Bristol high school field. Goodwill has now won 3 games and lost one.
